WHITMAN-HANSON
REGIONAL HIGH SCHOOL

Franklin Street, Whitman, MA 02382

Treasure This Year: Above: Scott Murphy and Rachael Gross, taking a break from their hard work at the D.E.C.A. school store, express the sentiments of the senior class: Are we having fun yet? Surely, as the seniors leave their old lives behind and start their new lives, they will cherish the fun times shared at Whitman-Hanson. Four years at Whitman-Hanson have come and gone, and as the seniors leave, they are reminded of daily struggles: the pursuit of academic success, the triumph of athletic glory, and perhaps most importantly, the quest for "fun". As this high school experience culminates with graduation, seniors are urged to pursue the positive and to live life with joy.

TREASURE 1996: Coincidence? Cliff-hanging ending? Symbolism? Motif? Flashback? Definitely that's the one! Freshman, now senior, Emily Barron ponders as she concentrates on her English I Honors Test on Great Expectations.

TREASURE 1997: Ah! Chemistry Class! James Melia and Jonathan Ferreira will treasure making their flow rate experiment work and simulate electric current.

TREASURE 1998: Freedom! A group of excited freshmen and sophomores, accompanied by Mrs. Cissy Spear, celebrate the end of the school year with a field trip to Riverside Amusement Park.

TREASURE 1999: Here it comes! The bus arrives to pick up Travis Tindall, a freshman, and Michael Fuller, a sophomore, for their first day at Whitman-Hanson.

Student Life:
Academics and Clubs!
Academics - the heart of the school; clubs - the afternoon break from the daily demand of term papers and tests. Student life is what a student makes of it. Each student decides how involved he wants to be in his pursuit of academics and participation in clubs or activities. There is no one way - no right way. As each student matures, he learns that being an involved student may indeed be a difficult job - even exhausting at times - but the rewards of involvement are great. The involved student learns his A's & B's, makes friends along the way, and prepares himself for the challenges of life.

TREASURE THIS YEAR: Amy Chandler and Elisabeth MacDonald are surely meeting the academic challenge, as evidenced by their multitude of reading materials. Amy is doing a second read of The Odyssey and Elisabeth is getting an early start on The Great Gatsby.

Echoes
by Meg Doliber

Whispered dreams, forgotten years
Wipe your eyes, dry your tears
Know that forever is never meant when said
What is forever? Is it all in your head?
Echoes pass and echoes fade
Debts are forever being paid
Forget the future, don't look behind
Now is the present; now is the time.

Olympic Odyssey:
The Athletic, Social and Political Implications of the Ancient Olympic Games

"Imagine having the power to inspire someone to push themselves beyond the realm of what is humanly possible, having the capacity to set sparring city-states at peace, having the capability to capture the world's attention. This is not a dream - this is the Olympics. ...

Even today, the spirit of the Olympics is phenomenal. It is the sharing of cultures and of dreams - a celebration of the past and a tradition for the future. If it were not for the ancient Greeks and their innovative ideas, we would not have the gift of our Olympic Games."

Above: Amy Chandler, Editor to the 1999 W-H Yearbook, was "from day one an individual who described herself as a most reliable person and therefore the person to be Editor for the 1999 Yearbook" says Mrs. Marsha Bergquist, Advisor to the W-H Yearbook. "Amy has proven not only to be reliable, but certainly a talented young lady who has always assumed her responsibilities to the utmost. She has done a wonderful job!"

Amy, sitting at her yearbook editor desk, says, "Our high school years are coming to an end, and as graduation approaches, I realize that most of us are happy. As a person who notices much in the world, I wonder, 'What is it that has made most of us happy? Is it that we have achieved our goals in these past four years? Have we come to classes and finished what we were meant to finish?' I think we should all be happy with what we've done. We've been tested, and when we get our diplomas, we will have succeeded. We should be proud of our accomplishments because we've done our best, and we have given the most we can give...100%. Congratulations, and I hope whatever you do will be profitable, rewarding, and successful! When I approach the stage on June 5th, I will think of all my classmates ... not only the Class of 1999, but also the Classes of 2000, 2001, and even 2002. You've all had a profound effect on my past, present, and future.

When I took the position of editor, I had no idea what was in store for me. I thought, as most do, "Yearbook is easy and a good chance for extra pictures." Speaking from experience, the job was much more than that. There were countless hours after school, many rolls of film, as much patience as one has, and work on pages I'd never seen before. How upsetting those days were when pages were supposed to be finished, and they weren't even close. In addition to the unfinished pages, I was the person people either loved or hated. People loved me because they knew that I might be able to get their pictures into the yearbook; on the other hand, people hated me because they "didn't have their make-up on", didn't have the right clothes on, or their hair-do's weren't perfect for the photo I was about to take. I grew to accept all of this and gradually the title of editor grew on me. To anyone who wishes to take the position of editor next year: Good luck! It really is worth it! A few words of advice: extra pictures are a myth; never use too many rolls of film in the beginning; and try not to bug the teachers too much! Thank you Mrs. Bergquist; I appreciate being able to have done this.

On that note I say my good-byes, shed a few tears, and plan to move on to the next stage of my life. No matter what happens, Whitman-Hanson will always be a part of my past. W-H's walls will be sadly missed, but I will gladly have my moment in time as I mount the stage and gleefully accept my diploma. "Good-Bye" to all that is known and familiar, and "Hello" to the unknown and scary. Finally, as members of the Class of 1999 graduate and plan to better their lives, remember: never lose sight of what's real, just, true, and good; never lose heart, because it's there in everybody - just look deep inside; and lastly, let's go make happy memories that we'll soon be able to talk about and 'treasure'."

Above: David Rusk, 2nd Editor to the 1999 Yearbook, has worked on the yearbook for four years. "He's been like the Rock of Gibralter. I've been fortunate to have had him devote so much energy and talent to our yearbooks," says Mrs. Bergquist, Yearbook Advisor.

David says, "After all of the deadlines, hard work, and many hours after school, it is satisfying to see the yearbook come together. Along with all the work I have done while putting the book together, I have tried to make this year as much fun as it could be. As this year comes to an end, I am glad that all of our hard work is paying off, but I am going to miss all of the good times we have had."

Editor, Amy Chandler, says, "After four years of working on the yearbook, Dave has shown he knows exactly what to do. When we participated in all of the typical editor events, Dave took pictures, knew what he had to do, and even had pictures taken of him. Dave endured getting wet at the beach and loved the fact that I got shoved in the back of Jason's car for 8 hours in two days. It's okay, Dave; I forgive you! It wasn't your fault. Dave always talked, joked and acted like a normal kid, but when yearbook time came he'd change instantly. He'd become a focused individual with lots of inspiration. You did a great job Dave and you helped us out a lot. Thank You!"

Spectacular Success: A beautiful summer night, a memorable dinner, and fashionably attired seniors combined to make the W-H Senior Prom at Lombardo's a spectacular success. As pasta was served, the seniors and guests tried not to get any of that tell-tale red sauce on them before their pictures. Unfortunately, some people still wound up looking like they had had a confrontation with the main dish. Regardless, everyone danced the night away for one last night of high school bliss. The night made everyone realize that they were no longer a class but individuals. Individualism was rampant and more evident than ever. Whether it was a particular car, flashy dress, debonair suit, or a different style of dance, the memories of our class are all unique in their own way. Afterwards, some went to the beach or to friend's houses; others, not wanting the night to end, drove around the town sharing a few last moments together. At the end of the night the seniors realized these were truly "The Times To Remember".

In this mock accident, one person is taken into police custody, two victims are taken by ambulance to the hospital, and one victim is pronounced dead at the scene. This year's mock accident had four fine actors including Andrea Olsen, Stephanie Hurley, Matthew Morgan, and Gregory Lozeau. Under Mr. William Sweeney's direction, the re-enactment paid off as Whitman-Hanson's Junior and Senior Proms were both accident free.

Tuesday, June 1, 1999, 202 soon-to-be-graduating seniors, filed onto a cruise boat and departed from Hingham Harbor. The air on this clear night was filled with memories and the laughter of the seniors. Grace Baldwin says of the senior banquet, "It was a fun and exciting evening, but at the same time it was a sad night; it was the last event before graduation," - a time to reminisce about the past and plan for the future.

As always, the senior banquet was a huge success. Filled with mixed emotions, happiness, sadness, anticipation, and excitement, students danced and wondered, "Should I be excited to graduate and enter a new portion of my life, or should I be sad to leave all of my much-loved friends and admired teachers?"

The evening drew to a close with moonlight on the deck, as the boat cruised back into Hingham Harbor. Although entitled "Senior Banquet" only crackers and cheese were served, so seniors drifted off in various directions to continue their celebrating at local parties and restaurants. Thoughts and emotions pulled students in several directions. As always, with the Class of 1999, the strongest direction they were pulled toward was the sense of togetherness.

a. Kathleen Berry looks meditative about what her future holds. b. Rachel Medairos displays her enthusiasm while getting excited about the senior banquet. c. Grace Baldwin takes advantage of the dance floor and shows everyone her moves. Is she excited to graduate or what? d. Mr. James MacDonald sneaks into a picture with Kristi Cappelini, Jill Butterfield, Jennifer Aretino, Michelle Kruger, Stacey Petit and Meredith Wigmore. e. Senior studs, Jonathan Hall, Timothy MacPhelemy, Charles Finn, Kevin Sullivan, and Joseph Draheim watch the girls dancing on the lower deck. f. Andrea Parros, Timothy Nawrocki, and Michael Robinson look up to the top deck as waves peak in the background. h. Jennifer Ray shows off her fabulous dance moves. i. Brian Germani sits cooly and thinks, "Am I the man, or what?" j. Jerry Connors tries to decide if he is happy or sad about leaving W-H. k. Bridget Payton and John Edgerly flash their perfect pearly whites to the camera, while enjoying good times at the senior banquet. l. Christina Boyd-Pickard, Elizabeth Smallcomb, Cynthia Cannon and Rachel Brooks huddle on deck at the senior banquet with the beautiful sunset sky in the background. Aren't their dresses lovely?

g. Teacher of the Year, Mr. Robert Resnick, speaks at the senior banquet. Mr. Resnick reminded the students not to forget what put them in this position tonight "... public school education." He challenged all of the students to get involved in education, to protect it, to support it, and hopefully, for some to choose public school teaching as a profession." He added "... what every teacher tries to accomplish is to touch their students' lives and impact them in a positive manner. This is the kind of wealth, real wealth, that you can expect if you enter the profession." Mr. Resnick, once again, thanked the students for "touching" his life and adding to his emotional wealth with the prestigious award of Teacher of the Year.

When the seniors converged in the cafeteria for senior breakfast on May 26, 1999, most of the students were unaware of the tremendous effort needed to make the event a success. Parent volunteers, along with the Senior Class Advisors, Mr. James Daley and Mrs. Linda Gay, labored for hours decorating the cafeteria. Class photos, star-shaped balloons and the students' panthers adorned the walls. A time capsule - an ancient relic from seventh grade complete with tapes of popular music and newspaper clippings - provided many laughs, as well. That morning, the lunch ladies arrived especially early to commence the creation of the meal. Twenty-five pounds of bacon and twelve gallons of orange juice later, the breakfast - a truly gourmet meal of bacon, sausage, egg sandwiches, french toast, bagels and pancakes - was served.

The 202 students in the graduating Class of 1999, garbed in red and black caps and gowns, led by the National Honor Society, filed onto the field and sat beside the dais on June 5, 1999. The slight breeze masked the heat of the sun as family and friends watched and listened to the giving of awards and the giving of speeches. Valedictorian, Jeannine Duffy and her twin sister Jill Duffy, the Salutatorian, gave a joint speech entitled, "Every Exit is an Entrance Somewhere Else" shifting from speaker to speaker for every paragraph. The senior class ode, written by Elizabeth Smallcomb, was read by the Class Secretary, Jonathan Hall. Thank you to Rhiannon D'Angelo for also submitting an ode. Class Treasurer, Carolyn Hall, presented the Class Gift of a professional scorer's table for the gymnasium and a $500 gift to both the Matthew Westfield Scholarship Fund and the Narissa Crosscup Scholarship Fund. After the closing of the ceremony, graduates, family, friends, faculty, and administration exited with traces of sunburns and pride for the accomplishments of the Class of 1999.

Swing For The Stars...
Baseball

The Whitman-Hanson Varsity Baseball Team has completed a very successful season for the spring of 1999. Despite a few early season disappointments, the Panthers, under the leadership of Coach Pat Forbes, turned the season around and made a run at the Atlantic Coast League Title.

The senior based team of Brian Cranshaw, Gregory Lozeau, Zachary Costa, Jeffrey Owen, Charles Finn, Christopher Connolly, Eric Nugent, Derek Rust, and Christopher Hunter turned in strong performances to help the Panthers stay in the running for a league title.

Memorable moments of the season included: defeating first place Plymouth North twice, defeating Marshfield which clinched W-H a place in the Division I State Tournament, and the naming of Gregory Lozeau, Zachary Costa, Brian Cranshaw, and Jeffrey Owen as ACL All-Stars.

The 1999 team continued its success into June as they played well in the state tournament.

The 1999 Whitman-Hanson Softball Team had, yet again, another successful season with a final record of 12-1. The girls were led by Senior Captains, Carolyn Hall and Kalin Salamone. The hard work and determination began in early April and came to fruition when the team won the ACL Championship Title.

Freshman pitcher, Lindsay Vayo, had an outstanding performance throughout the season. Vayo stated that the most challenging game of the season was played against Marshfield. "All of the girls played excellently, physically as well as mentally," says Vayo. Sophomore, Carly Muise, played second base for the Panthers. Not only did she play with determination, but she led the team with spirit and enthusiasm. Kalin Salamone has been an excellent short stop for the Panthers, during her years on the team. She has been a valuable defensive as well as offensive player.

Jenni Brooks, Carolyn Hall, Lydon McKenna, and Kalin Salamone received All Star status for their contributions to the winning Panther season.

Coach, Rhonda Dray, encourages the team to have fun. Captain Carolyn Hall says, "We won most of our games because of our coach's positive encouragement. The season was fun, and we learned a lot of the fundamentals from our coach that we can carry into later life."

Right: Senior, Captain, Carolyn Hall, the catcher for the Panthers, makes an outstanding play at the home plate.

Right: Sophomore, Alyssa Hall, is in mid-swing, hoping to clench the lead in the Whitman-Hanson vs. Abington Softball game. The game ended with a score of 1-0.

The Lane To Success

Boys/Girls Spring Track

The 1999 Whitman-Hanson Track Teams ended the year with another successful season. Both teams beat many records and achieved many goals.

Once again, the talented Boys Spring Track Team has completed another year and has managed to keep a perfect record. The boys continue to work hard and improve their records for the benefit of both their team as well as themselves. They show true dedication and complete concentration during each meet and demonstrate their true Panther pride.

The 1999 Girls Spring Track Team had an outstanding season, going undefeated and winning the Atlantic Coast League championship for the second season in a row. With the girls success, old records were broken. Junior, Jeanne Lotti, in shotput and discus, and Sophomore, Elizabeth Hassan, in the 300m hurtles were the record breakers. The biggest win of the season came when the girls team defeated D-Y the first time ever at W-H. The girls track team hopes to continue its winning season in the years to come.

Serving up fun...

boys / girls tennis

The 1999 Whitman-Hanson Boys Tennis Team ended the year with another fun and exciting season. The members of this year's underclassman based team were pressed into service due to their potential and commitment.

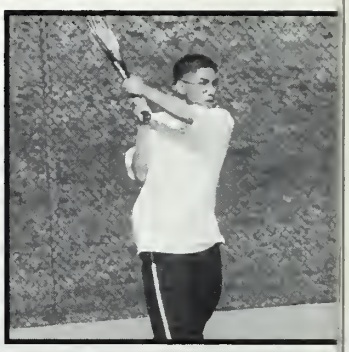
Freshman, Joseph Brogna, assumed the lead singles position due to an ankle injury of Jonathan Hall. Junior, Patrick Burtt-Henderson, was named the MVP of the Whitman-Hanson Team.

Each member of the team had a good attitude, and the Panthers hope that with lots of hard work in the off season that next year's team will be an ACL competitor.

The Girls Tennis Team, coached by Jerry LaPierre, fought through a tough season again this year.

Though it was a rocky road, the girls stayed competitive and ended the season with a 4-13 record. Their hard work has proven that the girls have talent and the future of the team looks very promising.

The girls team was also an underclassman based one, which means next year's added maturity should strengthen them. In all, the team worked hard and "the six senior girls did an excellent job for W-H" says Coach LaPierre.



Clockwise from Top Left: Joseph "Dapper" Draheim plays this one cool on the court. James Perez finishes perfectly, as he watches the ball soar over the net. Patrick Burtt-Henderson, a.k.a. Boys and Girls Golf

The W-H Boys Golf Team, as a young team, experienced a growing, developing season. Ending the season with 1 win,1 tie (both against Plymouth North High School), and several close matches with a score of 5-4 , the few seniors and mostly sophomores who comprise the team, look to a more successful season next year.

With more experience and more opportunities to play competitive golf, W-H's young team has a bright future.

Right: Timothy Rollins looks like actor Adam Sandler's character, Happy Gilmore, in the way he follows through with his swing to hit the ball.

Below: Sophomore, Timothy Rollins, W-H's MVP, was named to both the Boston Herald and the Boston Globe All-Scholastic Golf Teams. A dedicated athlete who loves the game of golf, Rollins placed fourth in the Division I Titles State Meet scoring a commendable 77.

Above: Christopher Ambrose jubilantly checks the grass to decipher exactly to where his follow through has guided his ball.

Below: Adam Tower tackles not only the golf ball, but he is also a great hockey player.

Below: Sophomore, Joshua Kameese, takes a practice swing before he has to putt, because he wants to make sure his score will remain under par.

The W-H Girls Golf Team "worked together, had a good time, and hopes to grow as a team" says Sophomore, Jill Hayes, "so that possibly in a few years we can have a victorious season." The 11 girl team, comprised of 4 seniors and 7 underclassmen, were coached by Scott Benton and assisted by John Teahan. The girls practiced each day after school at a driving range in East Bridgewater and tried to play a round of golf every other week at Strawberry Valley Golf Course, where they played their home matches.

The first four spots on the team were taken by Laura Friedman, Tracey Anderson, Jennifer Aretino, and Maribeth Powers. Spots five through eight for the matches varied for each match. The team, which is a member of the Massachusetts Bay League, had a final record of 1-9.

Of the team, Coach Benton says, "I see nothing but a bright future ahead for this team. The girls did a great job; they were dedicated and committed. In addition, the girls made it a lot of fun for me. I'm very pleased with the year; it was our best year yet."

Senior Tracy Anderson says: "I'll greatly miss the golf team next year; it has been a part of my life for the past three years. It will be sad to have to leave it."

Above: GIRLS GOLF TEAM SENIORS: Leighann Phillips, Laura Friedman, Jennifer Aretino, and Tracy Anderson have come a long way since their first year on the golf team in 1997 when the golf team was started.

Above: As Paul Ketchen practices playing his trombone, he thinks about what he could be eating for lunch.

Right: Many times in SAT prep, Rhiannon D'Angelo has been seen assisting Andrea Dacey with her math skills. Andrea just doesn't seem to get the hang of those math problems!

S.A.T. prep.

Far Right: Foreign exchange student Borislav Spasov and Michael Smith solve a very difficult math problem in SAT prep class.

Right: Michael Mahoney gets excited over a calculus problem ... or is it the latest candy sale?

Right: Michael "Sly" DeLorey makes his move, while Tony Generous is amazed by his expertise.

ECONOMICS CLUB: 1st Row: Wayne Jenness, Thomas McClennan, Adam Miller, Robert Conners; 2nd Row: Jennifer Tabor, Jason Papile.

Far Right: Brendan Geraghty shows his soft, cuddly side to Erika King, while using the library computers.

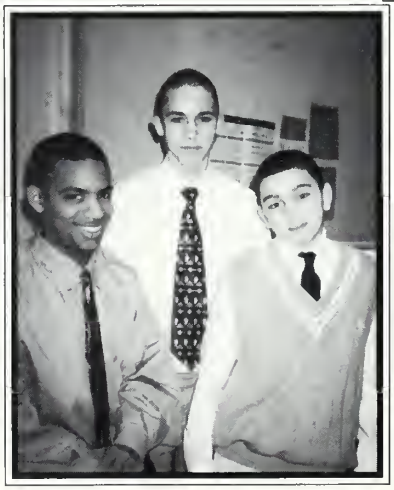
Right: James Doyle (middle) guides both Carolyn Hall (right) and Sean Gerraughty in a new song.

Left: Deborah Schow asks Mrs. June O'Leary, the CSF Co-ordinator, a question regarding fund-raising events for the Citizens Scholarship Fund.

Right: Paula Davis and Allison Counter discuss ideas for upcoming community service events sponsored by C.S.F.

C.S.F

Far Right: The C.S.F. Club joins together in unison and shows how dedicated they are.



Far Left: Pamela Guglietti, as a freshman, has quickly learned the ropes here at W-H. This freshman says, "There are more activities to participate in and you get to meet a lot of new people." She especially likes basketball and soccer.

Left: Thomas Gomes, Marcus Hanscom, and Paul Gravellese say that they are all dressed up because "the ladies dig it." Apparently these aspiring GQ models have learned how to please the eye, but when we investigated we found out that they were really dressed up for a freshman basketball game.

freshman thoughts

Right: Jessica Hardy and Ryan Griffith look excited over their student ID's. Ryan says that the biggest challenge so far in high school was "fighting off the girls." Who can blame him for trying, this freshman has already learned that in high school it's first come first serve...TO THE SENIORS!

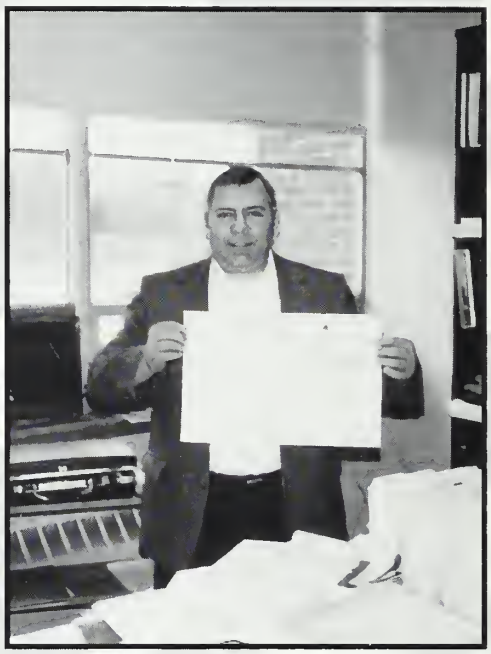
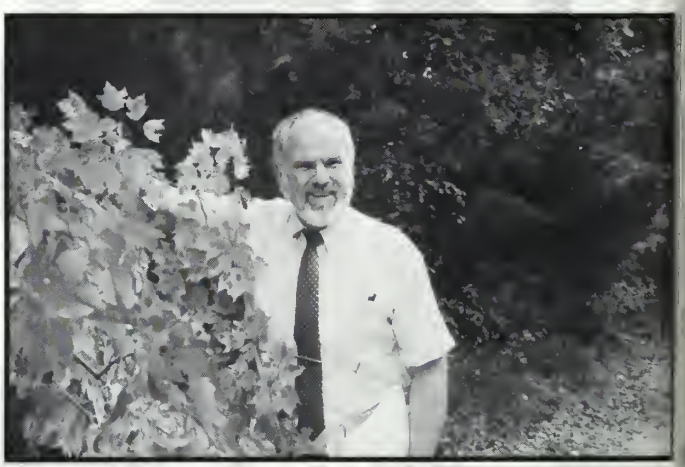
TREASURE 1996 : It has been four years now that Mr. Robert Gay has been Principal of Whitman-Hanson. Throughout his four years as Principal, Mr. Gay has not only had a tremendous amount of responsibility, but he has continued to coach an ever successful wrestling team.



TREASURE 1997: Mr. Edward Valla gave block scheduling an A+ when it was first introduced in 1997. Block scheduling continues to encourage students to focus on their academics.

TREASURE 1998: Admired and respected by all who knew her as a Cross Country Coach, Ms. Sue Moss was honored at the Thanksgiving Day Rally for her years of outstanding contribution to the Whitman-Hanson Athletic Program.



TREASURE 1999: Mr. Allen Warner, one of the several new teachers this year, says that despite the necessity of waking up at 4:30 and driving an hour to the W-H portals, he is enjoying the friendly staff and student body of Whitman-Hanson.

Everyday at 7:25 a thousand students storm into the school. The students challenge the personnel to do their best to clean their messes, feed their hungers, and educate their young, impressionable minds. Though many students leave at 2:00, now storming out the doors, many teachers stay and supervise activities, coach, sports, or prepare to tackle the next day's challenges. There are many treasures that a teacher can give to a student. Teachers encourage students to reach their goals, build confidence and inspire students to become better people, and of course, prepare students for life after high school. And, without saying, there are treasures that a student can give to a teacher. Teachers feel a challenge to pass on knowledge to students, and there is no greater satisfaction for a teacher than to see a student understand and apply the knowlege taught. Both students and teachers treasure a good relationship ... one day to become one of equality and friendship.

TREASURE THIS YEAR: Smiling as he carries some of his teaching treasures to his car, Mr. Robert Resnick is retiring after 38 years as a teacher at Whitman-Hanson. Known fondly by his peers as the Dean of Faculty, Mr. Resnick says he will continue to travel, read volumes of books, and keep in touch with his friends at W-H.

Personnel

mr. robert resnick

"As a young history teacher, I taught across the hallway from Mr. Resnick for almost 14 years. He truly was an inspiration and role model for me. I wish him a happy and healthy retirement for many years to come." Robert Gay, W-H Principal

"Meeting Mr. Resnick changed my life." These words by Mr. Robert Cole, Social Studies Department Chairman, aptly describe most people's reactions to Mr. Resnick. Admired by faculty and students, his intellect and wit have inspired his colleagues and pupils.

Mr. Resnick's colleagues recollect with fond memories time spent with him over the years. Mrs. Lozzi reminisces about the wonderful, educational, and entertaining time she and Mr. Lozzi had this summer riding the bike trails of Cape Cod and being guided by Mr. Resnick. Mr. Daley will miss "Mr. Cole's teasing Mr. Resnick and then promising never to do it again." Mr. Thrasher, remembers fondly being a student in Mr. Resnick's US History Class. Mrs. Cissy Spear has enjoyed knowing Mr. Resnick and says she, "...sat through many of his lectures continually amazed at how much he knew. He inspired me," she says, "to do my own research into the Civil War era and thus I 'took on the persona of Harriet Tubman as a portrait of living history'."

W-H students also have felt strongly about Mr. Resnick's inspirational way, and frequent appreciate comments have appeared in the high school yearbook over the years.

Retiring this year after 38 years of teaching, all of them at W-H, Mr. Resnick, known as the Dean of Faculty, says he leaves with "feelings of sadness and nostalgia." He says that he might have taught a little longer but, breaking up a fight a few years ago resulted in some eye damage and therefore he has difficulty reading for long periods of time.

"I've devoted my whole life to a career and will miss the students and the staff," says Mr. Resnick. "Getting to know the students as people and to inspire them to become more productive citizens in society have been my most important challenges." "Involving students in public service has been important to me..."

What will he do in retirement? "I want to keep in touch with my colleagues and my former students," says Mr. Resnick. "I will travel the world extensively, see more of my own country, take courses, do volunteer work."

No one who knows Mr. Resnick would doubt that in the years to come he will continue to change the lives of people around him just as he has changed the lives of all who have known him at W-H.

treasured objects

Everyone, even W-H teachers, has objects that he treasures for some reason or another. These objects, some personal and some professional, usually have a story behind them that is unknown to most people but memorable to the beholders.

A treasured item of professional nature is Mr. Thrasher's collection of Mr. Horkey's ear wax sphere, because he says,"it's great for static electricity experiments." Mrs. Lozzi's treasured object is a simple one. She says her treasured object is a pet rock given to her by the Student Council in September of 1996. A "special senior" painted it when he was just a youngster. Mr. Cole's treasured object is his collection of 492 European History "handouts", of course. Mr. Bancroft says the statue of the Panther is his favorite treasure, as it represents some very strong and pleasant memories of an individual and of this school.

Of a more personal nature, Mrs. Diogenes' favorite treasured object is a piece of the Berlin Wall that she broke off herself before the wall came down. Mrs. Emerson's treasured object is a two and a half dollar gold piece from the early 1900's given to her on her 18th birthday by her grandfather Sam Howland. It had been a gift to his parents on their 50th wedding anniversary.

So, whether the treasured item is Mr. Gay's collection of family photographs, Ms. Moss's camera and computer, Mr. McDonnell's Guild X-79 [an electric guitar for those of you not in the know], Mr. Deehan's Bible, Mr. Chatsko's Harley Davidson Motorcycle, or Mr. Bonaparte's autographed book by "R. Buckminster Fuller", even if these items may not be worth much monetarily, they are priceless to their owners because they represent a memory of a good time, a friend, or a piece of the past.

favorite teaching anecdote

Those interesting or humorous stories that teachers have a tendency to tell their classes are called anecdotes. Many teachers at W-H have stories that are a result of their careers here. They like to retell these stories and thereby revive these memories.

Ms. Sue Moss retells the story of those days when Mr. Ted Newcomb (now retired but still a track advisor) would chase kids down the railroad tracks for skipping class. Mrs. Karen Lozzi remembers the day she wore a blue and black shoe to school and "not one male member of the Social Studies Department could tell me what was wrong with the picture."Mr. William Thrasher remembers fondly, "being a student in Mr. Resnick's US History Class in 1967."Mr. Resnick, in turn, remembers appearing before the School Committee and convincing the committee to allow the Senior Class of 1968 to have its senior prom away from the school ... for the first time ever.

Mrs. Beth Anderson says, "One day a student reported to the principal that I swore at him. The principal called me to her office. I told her what I had said. She handed the student a dictionary, opened it to the correct page. I had threatened to defenestrate him."

A first year teacher at W-H, Bernard McDonnell recalls a student saying, "Whitman-Hanson High School is like a jail." Mr. McDonnell replied, "You don't know what you are talking about." He said, "Yes, I do." Mr. McDonnell said, "No, you do not."The student said, "How do you know? You never taught in jail." Mr. McDonnell replied, "Yes, I did."

summer ventures

Just like the students, the teachers of Whitman-Hanson also like to get out and have fun during the summer. Many teachers have interesting stories from places they have traveled to, or have jobs that they accomplished during the summer.

Mrs. Diogenes remembers August 15th, the day she was married to Scott Diogenes. Mr. William Thrasher, W-H's very own science teacher, performed the ceremony as a Justice of the Peace. Mr. Cole enjoyed himself the week he went to Europe, in fact he wishes that he were still there. Mrs. O'Brien relaxed at the boat basin in Nantucket Harbor. She asks, "What could be more perfect?" Mr. Amado spent the summer working at various camps and took two trips. One was to Florida for six days and the other was to California for ten days. Mr. Matthew Delaney remembers a summer a few years ago when he was asked to present a lecture about social documentary photography to a group of students in France, near Cannes. When he arrived, he had difficulty locating the chateau where he was to present his speech because he thought chateau meant house. "Actually, the chateau was an impressive castle on a point of land jutting out into the Mediterranean. It was stunning. And the best part was, I was able to stay and live in the castle for five days. It was an experience that I will never forget."

Of the more domestic type of vacation, Mr. Bancroft had an exciting summer working on remodeling his bathroom. Mr. Warner spent the summer teaching summer school and painting his house.

No matter where they go or what they do over the summer, the teachers return in the fall eager to teach.

being a new teacher ...

Being a new teacher is not an easy assignment. New rules, new policies, new preparations ... all require endless amounts of time and energy on the part of those new to Whitman-Hanson.

Mrs. Richendollar says one of the negatives about making the adjustment: "My most difficult adjustment is getting up so early!" However, she adds, "The staff [has] made me feel so welcome!" Mr. Allen Warner of the Science Department agrees. "Waking up at 4:30 am and driving an hour to school has been difficult." He also says he feels comfortable with the open and friendly staff and student body of W-H.

Mr. Bernard McDonnell, Language Arts Teacher, says, "I have taught adults ages 13 to 70 on the University level, teenagers at the urban North Quincy High School, and violent and sexual offenders at DYS Westboro. Teaching here at Whitman-Hanson with its suburban, largely white and middle class population, is one of my greatest challenges ... humility is a great thing."

Ms. Pamela Gould has been known to W-H students for the last 10 years, as she was the Assistant Varsity Girls Basketball Coach for 9 years and the Girls Softball Coach for 3 years. However, this year she has assumed full time teaching duties in the Business/Technology Department. Ms. Gould says that she has spent the first few months adjusting to teaching with teachers that she had while she went to this school. "It is a wonderful experience being able to come back and work with teachers that I respected so much when I was a student here."

Mr. Michael Parham has assumed the dual role of Social Studies Teacher and after school in-school suspension coordinator. As a new teacher at W-H with such a challenging assignment, Mr. Parham says, "No wonder my 'conflict resolution' and 'law and justice' students bring me brownies and cookies."

TREASURE 1996: Freshman Jonathan Hall is unaware that when he is a senior the Freshman Senior Banquet will be a thing of the past.

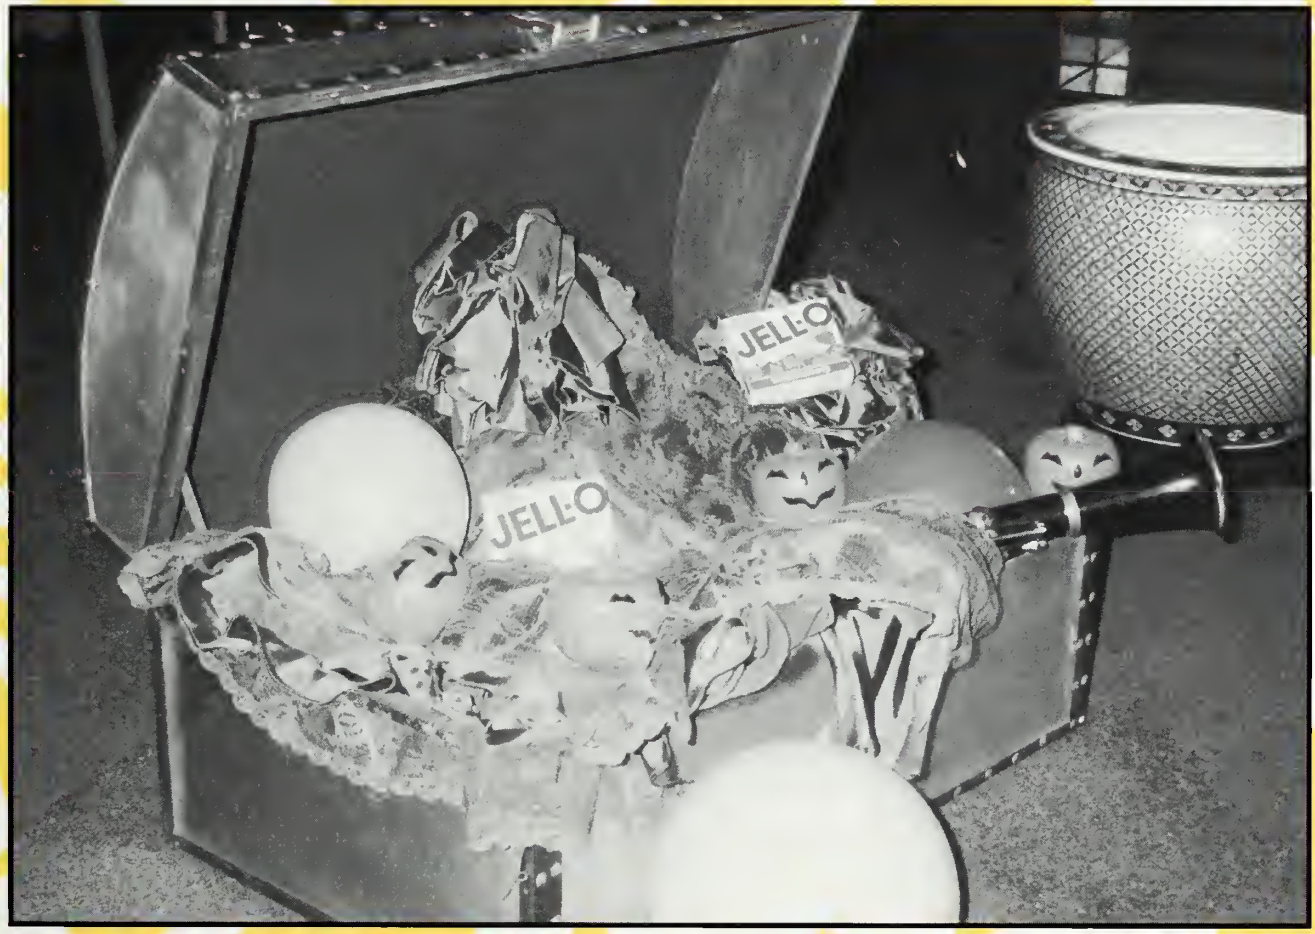
TREASURE 1999: Traditionally each year brings the start of something new. 1999 is no different, as the senior and sophomore classes sponsor the first annual jell-o wrestling contest.

Traditionally, many students look forward to various special events as a time to have fun and a few good smiles. Special events give them an opportunity to express their true selves by dressing up for Halloween, letting their spirits loose for the rally, or showing off their dance moves at the semi. The Class of 1999 is no exception. They have shown everyone that they know how to have a good time.



TREASURE THIS YEAR: Memorabilia from high school special events ... a prom dress, packages of jell-o, balloons, Halloween pumpkins, a clarinet ... all evoke memories to treasure of those carefree and funfilled times during the final year of the Class of 1999.

saturday - October 3, 1998

The crowd was pumping with enthusiasm to view the wrestling skills of many students and a few teachers. There were many great matches, but the crowd was very anxious to see Mr. Daniel Moriarty and Mr. John Rozen battle the two senior studs, Derek Rust and Matthew Morgan. When the jell-o finally settled, the students had won the battle, and the crowd had seen a very exciting match. Although the matches started a little late and although the jell-o needed to be iced down in order to develop some consistency, the crowd was excited over this first ever jell-o wrestling contest. The contest was sponsored by the senior and sophomore classes as a fund raiser; approximately $500 was raised from this event. It "was more for fun than a fundraiser" said Mrs. Linda Gay.

Whether through detailed face makeup, outrageous costumes, or rubber masks, the W-H students certainly show their Halloween spirit and go all out on their costumes, since Halloween comes only once a year. Halloween is one of the favorite times of the year in which students can express their individuality. The time spent on new identities is well worth it. As tradition has it, a professional photographer roams the halls catching images of the "critters and creatures" who are visiting for the day. For the second year in a row, the seniors gathered in the library for a group photo. Getting dressed for Halloween is so much fun that some students donned their costumes the following night for official trick or treating and partying.

j. Mrs. Peggy Westfield, Andrea Olsen, and Mr. Joseph Westfield take a break from fundraising to visit the walkers.

The Matthew Westfield Walk was held on Wednesday, November 11, 1998 at the Indian Head School. The walk was held to raise money to benefit the Children's Happiness Foundation. The Children's Happiness Foundation was created to help the wishes of ill children come true. The Matthew Westfield Walk, held in memory of our former classmate, successfully raised thousands of dollars to benefit the Happiness Foundation.

Both the Girls and Boys Cross Country Team qualified for the All-State Meet this year. This was the girls second year competing, while the boys have competed many times. Both the boys and girls made Whitman-Hanson proud by placing seventh out of over three hundred teams competing.

Mrs. Heather Kaval recognizes the following students:

Zachary Costa for his excellence not only in academics but in athletics. Zachary is one of an elite group of 20 students in the state chosen as a finalist for the Wendy's™ High School Heisman Trophy, an award based on academic achievements, athletic accomplishments, and community service. In the classroom Zachary shows integrity and a willingness to commit. Zachary proves to be a leader for his peers as a quarterback here at W-H and by excelling in all of his courses.

Stephanie Hurley has shown her leadership by tutoring freshmen. Stephanie's scholarly skills set a high standard for her peers. She maintains both an excellent academic average and a cheerful attitude. She is an excellent influence for her peers.

Rachel Brooks was nominated for the same Wendy's™ High School Heisman Trophy.

Left: The Class of 2011 shows that little people can make a difference in both the world and the lives of others. Four students look on excitedly as they view their tree being planted into W-H soil.

Special Recognition/ Tree Planting Ceremony

For the past five years the kindergartners have come to the school and have done something nice for both themselves and the high school students. The kindergartners plant a tree to show their hopes and dreams for their future. They hope to see their tree when they come to Whitman-Hanson in the fall of 2007. Dr. Kaplan started this ceremony five years ago when she became Superintendent of Schools, and it has been a successful and enjoyable occasion. The kindergartners make the W-H students happy, and the W-H students make the kindergartners feel welcomed and important.

Advanced Placement: In May of 1998, nationwide 635,000 students took the test. Out of that number Whitman-Hanson had 123 students achieve a score of 3 or above; 34 students achieved the top score of 5; 15 students received a 5 in Calculus, 7 students achieved a 5 in the first ever Biology taken at W-H; 90% of students passed the European History Exam; 87% of students passed the English Exam; and 78% of the students passed the Biology Exam. This year, as AP Chemistry and AP Latin are introduced at W-H, we expect continued success.

The Powder Puff game and decorating for the Thanksgiving Rally have been traditions at Whitman-Hanson for many years. The night before the rally, students from all grades gather in the gym to see who can decorate their section of the gym the best. After decorating, everyone heads up to the football field for the annual Powder Puff game in which the Junior girls go up against the Senior girls in a game of two-hand-touch football. The Class of 1999 won for the second year in a row, but the Class of 2000 showed some great effort.

The Thanksgiving Rally is a time for all students, teachers, and coaches to get together and show their school spirit. The gym is filled with banners, streamers, and balloons. There is excitment in the air while everyone is yelling, "We Are W-H!" Some of the activities of the rally include: the band performing, the boy cheerleaders cheering, and the senior girls putting on skits to impersonate the Senior boy football players. Each year's rally is different based on the students who write the skits and the players to be impersonated. Some elements, however, remain the same. The W-H spirit fills the gym as each class tries to be the most spirited. The students are excited about the forthcoming game against Abington and are getting ready for a few days off of school.

TREASURE 1996: David Rusk...what a treasure. Here, as a freshman, David was enraptured with a magical thought concerning his future as an astronaut.

TREASURE 1997: As sophomores we cheer enthusiastically as a class to show our true panther pride. We will always fondly remember the first time we didn't have to wear freshman pink.

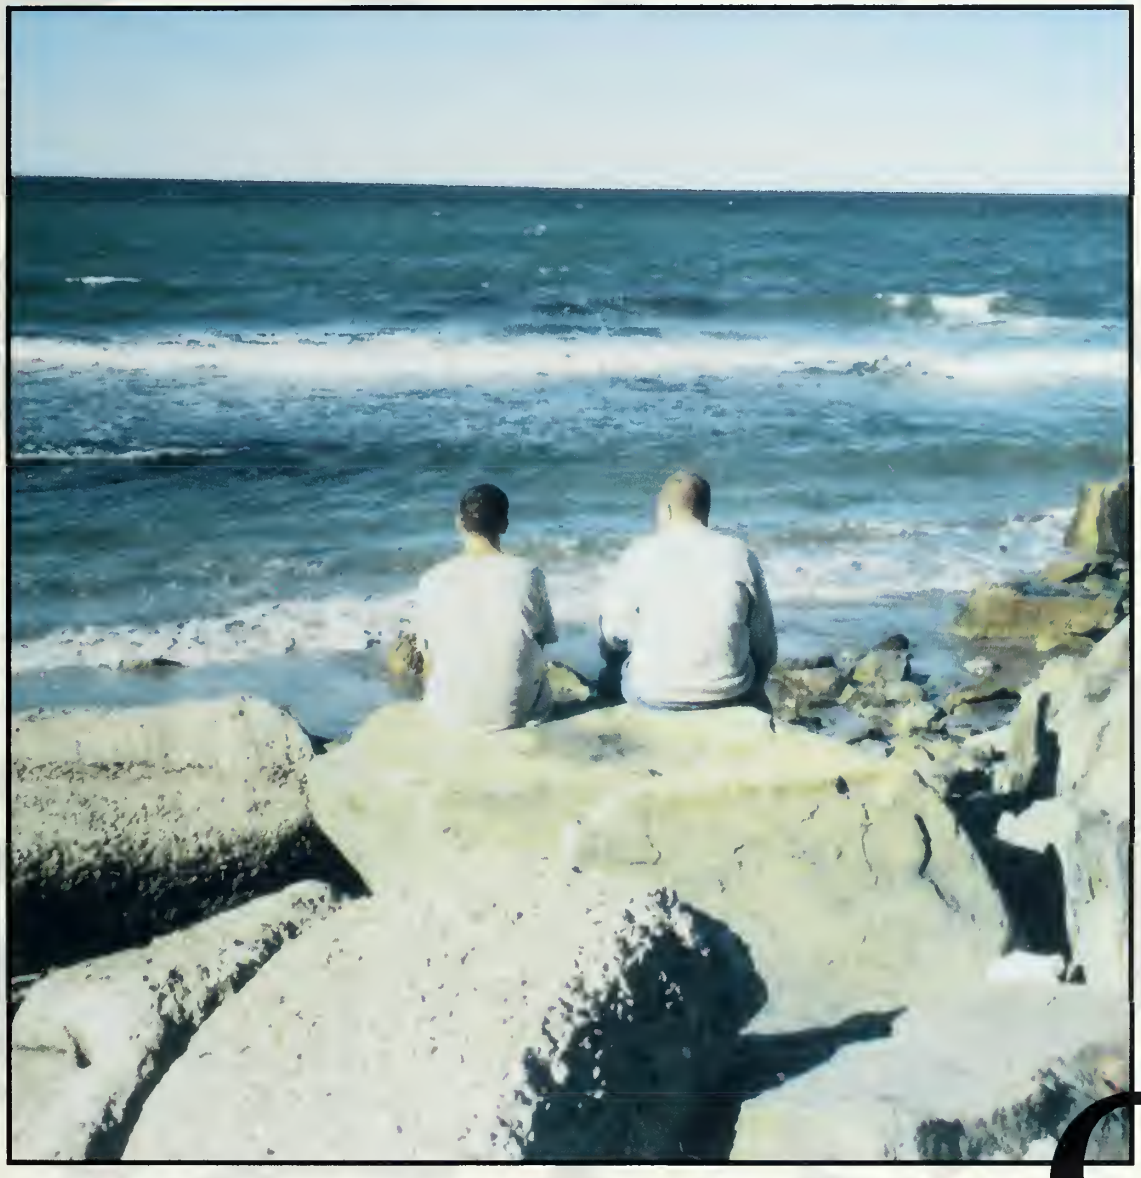
TREASURE 1999: With windswept hair, senior Amy Chandler prepares to grapple with the challenges of being an editor of the yearbook. Amy will always treasure opening the mail and seeing this picture.

Looking back upon the past and onward to the future, the question always arises ... what does it mean to be a senior? Being a senior means having a parking space, knowing we are the kings and queens of the school, looking forward to college, participating in endless class meetings, and enjoying that we'll never have to sell cheese again. Being a senior means seeing freshmen scurry out of our way and knowing that we have a definite place in the school. It's the last time to cheer at a Thanksgiving Day Rally, the last time to frivilously spend our money on things that we don't need, and the last time our parents will allow us to be totally dependent upon them. So, who wants to be a senior? Well ... we all do, but it's time to say good by to Whitman-Hanson and hello to that cold, cruel world out there.



Above: Reflection takes the spirit and the soul into another dimension. Two W-H seniors stare into the horizon ... pondering what their future, after graduation, will bring.

Memories are everywhere! They mean something different to everyone. Whether they make people happy or sad, laugh or cry, memories are created from everyday occurrences and from special moments. These photographic memories bring tears of joy or sadness and allow people to relive their memories. These photographs show some of the most treasured moments of our senior class. Through the years these memories will never be forgotten; they will always leave an impression on the Class of 1999.

Senior superlatives are voted by the senior class. The seniors analyze their peers to decide who best fills each category. These categories are discussed and decided upon each year to suit the personality of the graduating class. Senior Gregory Lozeau believes, "The superlatives are an important part of the yearbook because they are decided entirely by the students. The superlatives also reflect the diversity of the class with all the different categories."

The Class of 1999's Junior Prom was filled with memories, friends and fun. The prom was held at Lantana's Restaurant in Randolph. As everyone, elegantly dressed for the occasion, filed into Lantana's, the excitement began to build. The night was romantic with a light breeze, and the theme song "We've Got Tonight" fit perfectly. The prom was a night to remember and a night that the graduating Class of '99 will never forget.

Below: Nicholas Bessette, Scott Murphy, and Joseph Bastek take a rest to discuss the plans for after the prom.

For the seniors, summer seems to be a time to make memories that will last a lifetime. Whether summer is a time to relax, party, or just hang out with friends, Seniors will always remember those days no matter how quickly they seem to go by. The memories created the summers before our senior year often turn out to be some of our most treasured memories.

now & then

grade school memories kindergarten the way we were highschool

Change is a force that affects all of our lives. Much has changed for us, the students of Whitman-Hanson since we started school, including our styles, our goals, our friends, and our outlooks on life. While we reflect on what we have become, we look back fondly and remember what we used to be. We realize how these changes have made us strong for what lies ahead.

Above: A lot more has changed for Kathleen Berry and Lori Calnan than just their hair.

Below: Although Sunisa Angelini and Alison Vance have grown up, their smiles still have that little girl sparkle.

Above: Gregory Blake and Derek Rust have gone from Karate cuties to football studs.

Below: Rachel Medairos and Melissa Waterhouse still know how to light up a room.

Below: A lot has changed since the eighth grade trip to Washington D.C., but Roisin Timoney and Rachel Brooks are still friends.

Right: Crystal Cicerone and Michelle Malloy aren't clowning around anymore.

Right: Rhiannon D'Angelo and Andrea Dacey still have those darling, attractive smiles.

Left: Dennis McLaughlan is still stylin' and profilin'.

Right: Although since freshman year Elizabeth Ferland and Andrea Matheson's lives have become more complicated, they still take time out of their busy schedules to spend time together.

Best friends share an incredible bond that no one could understand unless he possessed the privilege of having one. A best friend is someone who is always there to lend support regardless of past disagreements. The people here have experienced the joy and contentment of friendship. High school is so much easier when there is a best friend to rely on.

Below: Jamie DeLorey, Grace Baldwin, Bridget Payton, and Narissa Crosscup gathered together at the Junior/Senior Semi their sophomore year for their last semi all together as best friends.

Above: Nicole Supple and Michelle Malloy have known each other since kindergarten. Michelle says, "We have gone through both good times and bad, but our friendship has survived. We know that no matter where life takes us, we'll always be a phone call away from each other." Nicole comments, "Michelle is always giving me advice. We are always there for each other."

Above: Jeffrey Owen and Andrew Cook have been best friends all their lives. They enjoy going on skiing trips, whitewater rafting trips, and spending weekends in New Hampshire. "I love you, man!" says Jeffrey.

Above: Nichole Larsen and Adam Miller have been together for two years and are the best of friends. "We share both trust and honesty in each other," comments Nichole.

Left: Kalin Salamone and Stephanie Hurley have been friends for quite sometime, but over the past few years they have become best friends. Stephanie says, "The two of us have shared many great times and laughs together and know many more lie ahead. Although next year could separate us, our friendship will keep us close."

Above: Lauren Brown and Rachael Gross have been best friends throughout the past four years and they have shared many memories together. Lauren says, "The favorite memory we both share is getting ready for the prom."

Above: Andrea Dacey and Amy Evans have been best friends since sixth grade. They approach every situation as one and will always be there for each other. Amy says, "Andrea is like a sister to me." Andrea responds, "The closeness we share will never end. She'll always be my life-long friend."

Below: Emily Barron, Jill Duffy, and Stacey Petit have been best friends since freshman year. Stacey says, "We are always around to talk or to listen. Even though each of us is as stubborn as the other, we've been through a lot and are still good friends."

Below: Suzanne Twiss and Carolyn Hall have been best friends since 7th grade. Suzy says, "Carolyn is always around to make me laugh. We've shared many memories together and are always there for each other."

Above: Michelle Kruger and Kristi Cappellini have been best friends for 5 years. Michelle says, "Kristi is always there for me, and I'll always love her for that. She's a great friend."

Above: Rebecca Bennett, Michelle Poore, and Mikaelyn Clegg have been best friends since freshman year. Michelle comments, "We do everything together." Here, they model with their fancy hair before the junior prom.

Left: Brian Lankiewicz, Charles Finn and Joseph Draheim, who have been best friends for the last year, sit on the steps of Brian's house waiting for an exciting night on the town.

Right: Best friends since 7th grade, Deborah Schow and Cynthia Cannon wait to board a plane to Chicago, Illinois to visit Wheaton College and Northwestern University. Cynthia says, "A major quality in both of us is honesty. We value the opinions of each other, while trying to select the best college. Although our future plans may be different, we know we are just a phone call away. We'll never forget our times at Whitman-Hanson."

Right: Sheila Crowley, Lisa Dobbins, Deirdre Berry, and Alison Vance have been the best of friends for five years. Alison says, "We all know that no matter what happens we can always turn to each other for anything. We all know we would never pass judgement on each other or be anything we aren't."

Right: Christine Williams and LeighAnn Phillips have been friends since 6th grade. Christine says, "Throughout high school, we have remained best friends. We have much in common and are always there for each other."

jobs

money responsibility fun working labor friends

From bagging groceries to scooping ice cream, teenagers are employed in a variety of jobs. Having a job provides money, new friends, new experiences, and perhaps even an introduction to a future career. A job can be a big part of a teenager's life. With new responsibilities comes an increased freedom. Though working can be a tiresome feat, it can also be a rewarding and fulfilling introduction to reality.

PHYSICAL PROWESS

practice endurance skill strength coordination

Whether on the beach, in a gym, or in school, one can always find students trying to achieve their physical potential. Students demonstrate their physical prowess in individual ways ... by swimming, sleeping, playing golf, or flexing. Physical participation gives students an opportunity to take a break from their academic studies, relieve stress, excel in new ways, and become ever so well rounded.

Throughout our lives we have all treasured our very own different objects, from friends and family to pets and prizes. As we grow, progress, and move on with our lives, our treasured objects will move on and become possessions of the past. However, one very special item our entire graduating Class of 1999 will always have to treasure for eternity is our W-H diplomas.

Right: "I don't know what I'd do without it," exclaims Alison Vance, sitting next to her stereo.

TREASURE 1996: Sarabeth Gurney looks back at 1996. She treasures her soccer accomplishments by being one of the very few freshmen to win a varsity soccer position.

TREASURE 1997: Jennifer Tabor laughs appreciatively at the senior skit during the traditional Thanksgiving Day Rally. Jennifer will always treasure the cold, windy Thanksgiving Day games in her band uniform "designed for 60 degree weather".

TREASURE 1998: James Perez and Ryan Petti treasure not only their friendship but also their memories of a junior prom that was an opportunity for them to show off their dancing skills.

TREASURE 1999: Senior Class Officers Jonathan Hall, Secretary, Stephanie Hurley, Vice-President, Matthew Morgan, President, and Carolyn Hall, Treasurer, look happy in this September photo, but they are already beginning to understand the pressures of their class positions as they work hard to organize dates and places for their senior events.

As each senior views the following pages, he or she sees individual senior portraits and individual write-ups, but 200 plus people we are not; instead, we are one unit, one class, the Class of 1999. No matter what ... with love in our hearts, with tears in our eyes, with diplomas in hands ... just remember that no matter what happens we will always be the spirit of "99". Each of us is unique; on graduation day, June 5, 1999, we will mount the stage and take our bows ... treasuring the years that have brought us to this final moment of success. Indeed, we are the Class of 1999.

OUR BELOVED FRIENDS ...

He walked in sunshine ....
MATTHEW WESTFIELD
June 2, 1981 - November 9, 1988
He lived with humor ....
SHANE KOSTAS
May 18, 1981 - February 22, 1998

Matthew Westfield

Matthew Westfield attended first grade at the Maquan Elementary School in Hanson. He loved baseball, school, playing with his friends, and especially reading Arthur Books by Mark Brown.

May you always walk in sunshine and God's love around you flow, for the happiness you gave us, no one will ever know. It broke our hearts to lose you, but you did not go alone; a part of us went with you, the day God called you home. A million times we've needed you. A million times we've cried. If love only could have saved you. You never would have died.

Shane Kostas

Shane Kostas attended the Hanson Indian Head Middle School, prior to attending South Shore Regional Vocational Technical High School. He loved fishing, practicing with his band, and especially helping to bring laughter into the lives of his friends.

Matthew Westfield

Matthew celebrated his 7th birthday in June of 1988 with friends Erik Williams, Matthew Morgan, Ryan Petti, and Matthew Hurley, Matthew died of leukemia in the fall of 1988.

YOU ARE NOT FORGOTTEN

As a toddler, Narissa's smile and vibrant personality were already apparent.

Adam says about this photo, "This is the last vacation my sister and I went on, in Virginia Beach. I will never forget that vacation with my big-sis. I miss all the fun memories we had together."

The Junior-Senior Semi is one of the many memories friends, Bridget Payton, Grace Baldwin (left), Amy Finiello, and Jamie Delorey (right) will have of Narissa. The girls also share great memories of Nari including: spending summers together, shopping, and sleepovers.

Narissa's patience and warmth extended even to her sometimes uncontrollable Shitz-Zu dog, Rufus.

SHE TOUCHED OUR LIVES ... NARISSA CROSSCUP

August 18, 1981 - October 18, 1997

Narissa, Our lives have not been the same without you. Everyone misses your beautiful face and warm smile. Senior Prom, graduation, and college ... how can we do all of this without you? Although time has passed, there is not a day that goes by without you in our thoughts and hearts. We miss you dearly, Harball. We love you! Your Best Friends

TO NARISSA:

Our Angel

Time has passed since you left our world,
Left our world for one that is new;
Words can't describe our grief, our loss,
The pain of losing you.

On a scary night, we held you,
And begged you not to die,
But you had somewhere else to go...
To eternity in the sky.

In sunshine, we recall your smile;
In darkness, we feel your pain;
Not a day goes by without thoughts of you.
We so wish you were here again.

You haven't left us completely,
Your spirit is always near,
To give us strength when we are weak
And courage to face our fear.

We feel your presence beside us
In whatever we say or do,
Cheering us on from your own special place,
Our angel to guide us through.

Our angel to offer a helping hand,
A hug when we need one so;
Our angel to hold us in her embrace,
Warming the tears that flow.

Our angel, we miss you dearly,
But you've other places to roam;
You are never far away from us,
For our hearts are now your home.

This poem was submitted by her loving friends whose lives were so touched by her sweetness, gentle ways, and loving heart.

CLASS HISTORY

On our first day of school in '95
Into the portables we walked with fear.
Combining Whitman and Hanson into one,
We began our freshman year.

We met our advisors, Daley and Gay;
Officers were selected.
Rhiannon, Roisin, Cindy and Deb
Fun and good service were what we expected.

To pay for our many fees
We begged on our knees
We even said, "please"
But no one bought cheese

At the freshman-senior banquet
Things got out of hand
We had a little too much fun
And got the banquet banned.

Along came the Thanksgiving rally
We were warned, "Before you dress--think!"
But Mat and Jon didn't listen
And showed up wearing pink.

At our first lock-in ever
We brought our blankets and pillows to share.
The boys were told to stop bouncing basketballs,
But of course they didn't care.

We sat in our classrooms waiting.
Judge Ito announced the future of the "Juice."
The bell rang; we didn't move.
The jury set O.J. loose.

Our first big field trip to watch the whales
Was by the science department planned.
A lot of the people got sea-sick
Because they were on sea, not on land.

Our first class trip was decided
To go see the Pawsox play.
Our first year of high school over,
Sophomore year would soon be underway.

We began sophomore year
Many changes were made.
Now four classes a day
And volleyball was played.

Mat, Matt, Mike and Robin
Were whom we chose to rule.
Student Council had a festival,
The first one at our school.

We sold the "Good Life"
Which was cheesier than cheese.
The Otises weren't much better
For their improvement we said, "Please!"

Unlike the Pats
We didn't go to the Super Bowl.
Baseball did well,
And Cross Country was still on a roll.

We set the date and made the plans
To lock ourselves in the school.
Then nature locked us out
When snow fell on April Fool's.

On a whale watch we went
And everyone was ill.
Next to Riverside Park
Going on rides for the thrill.

We said good-bye to many,
Friends and teachers, too.
Our school was changed forever;
We will always remember you.

Our sophomore year was ending,
The most uneventful of the years.
Soon we will be juniors,
One year closer to leaving here.

We started the year
Like previous years, the same.
Matt, Steph, Rhiannon and Robin
Took the reins.

Our world was lost;
Our hopes were dashed.
We lost a friend,
All too fast.

Yet we moved on,
Kept on going.
Football won the ACL;
Cross Country the same showing.

The decorations completed,
The rally all through,
We won the Powder Puff.
What is there left to do?

Spring track won the ACL,
Girls and boys alike.
Dawson's Creek was number one
Every Tuesday night.

Dressed in our best
Singing, "We've Got Tonight,"
We danced the night away
And stayed up until light.

Seniors camped out
In front of the school.
Juniors with water balloons
Proved that we ruled.

With seniors just waking
A bomb scare had begun.
Three hours on the track
Made for tons of fun.

Looking back, Junior year
Sure it was lots of fun
We're just waiting one more year
For it all to be done.

Senior year finally came.
Matt, Steph, Carolyn, Jon led the way.
With SAT's and applications
We yearned for Graduation Day.

We crowded into the gym
To watch the wrestling show.
Matt and Derek tossed Moriarty and Rozen
Cause "there's always room for Jell-o."

The new computer rooms were nice
As everybody knows.
With dimming lights and projection screens
They made us feel like pros.

They thought we'd be pleased to know
Our school was a prison state.
Electronic clocks, keycards, a Big Pun;
We hope to get out before it's too late.

The Thanksgiving game was at home.
Once again our team made us proud.
A tailgating party in the parking lot;
Our Superfans were really loud.

The semi and the prom arrived;
Everybody had a blast.
Friends, pictures and parties,
Treasured memories would always last.

The end of the year approached us.
Senioritis affected us all.
Looking forward to graduation
And college or work next fall.

On June 5th, our day has come
To wear our caps and gowns.
To celebrate our completion,
Our good-byes will be said with frowns.

We're saddened when we think
That our life here's all done,
But then we come to realize
That the best is yet to come.

TREASURE 1996: The AP English Class will always remember its first time together as a group in Mrs. Bergquist's Freshman Honors English Class.

TREASURE 1997: Current seniors Crystal Cicerone and Roisin Timoney, pictured here as sophomore Options students in the Science Office, help to put away lab goggles.

TREASURE 1998: As juniors, the members of the current senior class meet at class meetings to discuss important issues. At this meeting the juniors are getting ready to sell keychains as a fundraiser.

TREASURE 1999: It's tradition! Underclassmen each year sit for their student ID photos on the first few days of school. The year 1999 brings high tech into the picture, as Craig Finley, Director of Technology, and Sue Moss, of the Technology Dept., take a photo of Brian Rowan, to be used for his new student ID. The new student ID, with its security strip, will be used for computer access and school entrance.

To be or not to be an underclassman! That is the question. A freshman endures the difficulties of being the new kid; someone who doesn't know his way around ... who doesn't know half of the student body, and who constantly reminisces about the days when he was one of the more important persons in his last school. The life of a sophomore improves. The sophomore knows what is going on in the school, but still isn't accepted by juniors and seniors quite yet. A junior anticipates becoming a senior ... constantly thinking about his future, what college he will attend, and what his life goals are. Every person who goes to high school follows this path; this journey. Remember to enjoy each high school year and to look forward to each day, so that these years will truly become a treasure.

Above: Kerri Moran has been working at Shaw's in Hanson for six months as a cashier. This is her first job, as in the past she felt she wanted to concentrate on school and having fun. However, she decided to work this year because of the big expenses coming up of a car and college. Kerri's advice to her brother Bryan and the underclassmen is, "Get a job even before your senior year if you can manage to keep your priorities straight. Money is important ... but remember it is not everything."

Although students obtain various types of jobs, ranging from retail to grocery to restaurant work, students pick their jobs for the same reasons. Jobs are a time for a person to learn who they are in life. Jobs are are an opportunity to make friends and memories. Jobs provide one with experience which will last a lifetime. Finally jobs provide money for those extravagant things in life. For many reasons, jobs are important to students and provide many unforgettable memories.

Left: Senior Paula Davis feels the driving laws are a good idea. Paula says, "I had an accident not long after I got my license; the driving laws would have prevented my accident."

Above: Seniors Sunisa Angelini and Kathleen Berry do not approve of the new driving laws but say that they're no big deal. Sunisa and Katie tell juniors, "Have fun driving alone."

Left: Senior Timothy Nawrocki gives the new driving laws a thumbs-up. Timothy asks the juniors not to get into any accidents and not to drive drunk. Tim says, "If I can have my license and not get into any accidents, so can you."

Today The New Driving Laws ...

November 4, 1998 marked the date that changed the driving world for teenagers in Massachusetts.

A state law went into effect on the 4th which creates a Junior Operators License. This license has several components: 1st: it prohibits Massachusetts' 16 year olds from driving with passengers younger than 18 unless the passenger in the front seat is at least 21. This does not apply to immediate family. 2nd: For the first six months a driver must be accompanied by a parent or guardian between midnight and 5 a.m. 3rd: License applicants must have had a learner's permit for at least six months, have had no at-fault accidents, moving violations, drug or alcohol convictions in six months, be 16 and 1/2 years old, have completed driver's education, and have 12 hours of supervised driving.

Right: Michael Andrews (left) has had his license for more than two years, and his younger brother Jeffrey has had his license for only a few months. Mike, with several years of driving experience has never had a ticket. Mike says Jeffrey can't drive with his friends or after midnight according to the new law. Although Mike says he doesn't really care about the new laws because they don't affect him, he feels most teenagers aren't really following the law because they don't think the restrictions are fair. Mike's advice to his brother, "Remember all those good points you learned in Drivers Education and stay smart...drive safely."

Right: Derek Rust, a well-known escort to beauties at W-H proms, has some good advice about proms for his sister Jessica and other underclassmen. "Have a good time! Don't be afraid to act foolish because that's when you have the most fun. Party all night!"

The prom is an exciting time of year for the majority of us. It's an opportunity to dress in our best apparel and paint the town red. All who attend will have a great time, as they party through the night with friends. It's a chance for our class to finish out the junior year with a bang and propel ourselves into our final year.

One can imagine the evening. The music blaring, the lights flashing, everyone dancing, and the party getting started. One can look around and see all the excitement. Everyone's all dressed up, feeling very sophisticated, but not acting that way. We kids just want to have fun. We forget about being mature and sophisticated and we just have a good time.

This is our night. The seniors have all their events around this time, but this is our event. The prom is our party and we can determine what it will be. If we don't prepare for it, the prom won't be what we expect, but a little preparation and anticipation will let us have a great night.

Above: Senior Ta-Be-El Royster notices that "Most people dress the same in our school." Dressing has changed because people come in attire that is more "relaxed" and "they can get away with wearing smaller and tighter clothes than they did earlier."

Above: Senior Patrick Lundrigan says, "As I think about the past few years, not only has the style of clothes changed but also the style of hair. The variety is endless ... from bleached tips to blue mohawks, to the shaved head, sometimes with or without designs. I, myself, with naturally brown hair have learned that 'Blondes do have more fun.'"

Above: Senior Timothy MacPhelemy,while proudly displaying his choice of purchase on Penny Day,says that even the Barbie Doll has changed her outfits over the years.

Above: Senior, Kalin Salamone, says to her younger sister Elizabeth, "Don't wait until the last minute to purchase your special dresses for the semi or the prom ...read the latest magazines and shop early, so you don't end up stressed ... like I have been at times."

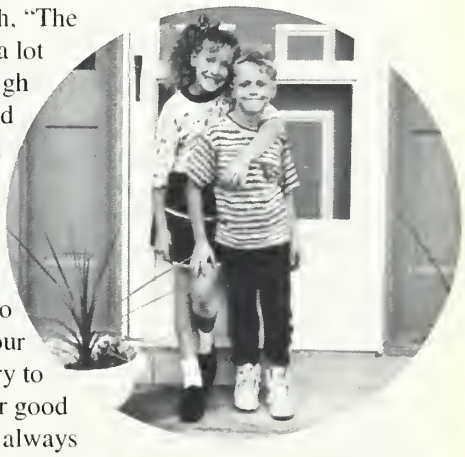
looking back on trends and fashion ...

Right: Grace Baldwin says to her brother Seth, "The styles have changed a lot since I started high school. From pegged pants to cargo pants, from favorite TV show Friends to Dawson's Creek. And, you will notice changes as you go through the rest of your high school years. Try to remember your good fashion sense, and always carry your beeper, so I can keep in touch."



As we look back on the trends and fashions of this past year, we see many movies, TV programs, music groups, and clothing styles which have shaped our year. We saw movies such as: Waterboy, I Know What You Did Last Summer, and What Dreams May Come, which have made us laugh, jump with fear, and cry. We have all identified with the characters in TV programs such as: Ally McBeal, Party of Five, and 7th Heaven. Music groups, Hanson, Pearl Jam, Spice Girls, and Metallica, have entertained us. Finally, we have all shown our own personalities by the clothes we wear; whether our style is "Abercrombie and Fitch" or sweat pants, we have allowed our personalities to shine. As the years pass, trends and fashions are bound to change, but we will always look back on this year as a fond memory.

Today Best Friends ...

Below: Greg Lozeau says to his sister: "Brie, when choosing friends, make sure you choose them for all the right reasons, such as their kindness, trust, honesty, and sense of humor. Knowing the friends you have now, I'm sure you know already how to choose good friends."

Friendship. Friendship is the warmth in our hearts. Without friendship we would be lonely souls.

With friendship comes loyalty and with loyalty comes respect. Without loyalty and respect, you can't have a friendship that will last.

You can't have a friendship without honesty. You need to be truthful with your friends. If you aren't, you will lose their trust and many times won't be able to regain it.

Rumors ruin a friendship. When you hear something your friends supposedly said about you, talk to them before you jump to conclusions. Let them give an explanation. Believe what they say. Don't disbelieve them and stop talking to them. That won't resolve anything. Just forget about it.

You should spend times with your friends and enjoy the closeness. Go to the movies, on a walk, or to a sports event.

Whether it is for sports, a sleepover, holiday, or a night on the town, have fun with your friends. Have the best time of your lives, because you never know if you'll see them tomorrow.

looking forward to becoming an upperclassman ...

Right: "Looking forward to becoming an upperclassman, Pam? You already have the maturity and the responsibility;now remember to always be yourself. Your good attitude and kindness will always get you where you want to go and help to make you a positive role model to others. We've been through a lot together and you've always been strong for me through these tough times. You really are my best friend. Have a great junior and senior year. Good Luck!" Andrea Olsen to her sister Pam ...

Why do underclassmen look forward to becoming upperclassmen? After all,certainly becoming an upperclassman means more responsibilities, more demanding schoolwork, more cash needs, and less free time. However becoming an upperclassman has many advantages, such as: getting a car, more respect, later curfews, getting to drive to school, not having to worry about snow days, being able to leave school early, more special events, and ultimately graduation.

Upperclassmen are looked up to because they have semis and proms and can take lucky younger people with them. This is especially important because people look forward to going to semis and proms before their time.

Upperclassmen are also looked up to because they have many picture opportunities as seniors. The senior portraits and senior group photo are so important because it shows off a side of the class that's fun and not usually seen by everyone all at once. The underclassmen look at the pictures and it gives them a chance to show just how "cool" they are by telling others who they know and how they know that person.

Above: Senior Bryan Simmons says, "High school is a different world than middle school. There is just more to do and, therefore, so many more opportunities. There are many roads to take not even seen before. Just don't be afraid to take those roads."

Above: Senior Jerry Conners says high school is definitely a place to grow and mature. For some people this takes longer than others. Keeping an open mind is important. "I realized when I was a senior that a good attitude always helps a person to succeed."

Left: Senior David Rusk says that one of the best things about coming to the high school is meeting new people. David says that when you do meet someone new and maybe a little different don't judge them too quickly. They might end up being one of your closest friends.

looking back fond memories of middle school ...

No matter how much they may love high school, freshmen cannot help reminiscing about the days past at middle school. Middle school was a place to grow, learn, and mature. The first day of sixth grade was unforgettable. All the qualms of being picked on by the older kids, yelled at by the teachers, and bombarded with homework ceased when it was realized how wonderful a place the middle school is. Afterall, who can forget the first dance or any of the dances after that. And will we forget annual traditions such as the Turkey Trot? There are so many wonderful memories of middle school ... the school plays ... the 8th grade trip to Washington ... the bittersweet memory of the last day of school. The last day ... the time to say good bye to our teachers whom we've grown to like so much over the years. It is the last day to be in the same school as some of our friends who will be going to other high schools. It is the time to say goodbye to a part of our childhood. We soon will be beginning that cycle over again as freshmen, and by the time we are seniors we will have grown to love high school as much as we did the middle school.

Right: "JP, you are going to experience many different things over these high school years. If there is one thing I could tell you, it is always to be true to yourself. You are a great person and even a better brother. Make the best out of high school and always be yourself."
Michelle Malloy

Today ... The good things in life as experienced by freshmen ...

Although they may not realize it at the time, freshmen have a lot of good things going for them. Sure, it may not seem like it at the time, but when else will they get all those memories from activities such as sleepovers after football games and lying to parents about driving with older kids. The mall was always a great Saturday night destination ... unless your mom was working! Remember saying things like, "My mom will drive us there, if your mom will pick us up?" When your mom couldn't drive you, you ended up bonding with people from another town or talking on the phone all night long. After you were off the phone, and your parent was available to chauffeur you and your friends around, you planned to go out to eat with this person of the opposite sex from the opposite town. But, a date is out of the question, as you have to bring your eight closest friends, because you're way too nervous to go out with this person on your own. The next day at school you totally ignore this person that you went on this like "outing" with and instead, spend the day daydreaming about a senior and hoping the senior will notice you. Then again you want everyone to notice you ... and you think everyone does ... until you become a sophomore and you're embarrassed because you realize you aren't as cool as you thought you were.

Right: Ryan Brogna (right) says to his brother Joe, a freshman, "Take part in all that you can. Enjoy high school while you're able because it is a one time experience ... when else will you be able to wake up at four am and play hockey? Enjoy your time and opportunities here, as one day too soon you'll realize that it is over."

looking forward to new experiences ...

High school represents so many new experiences. Each day presents new classes, new teachers ... decisions about clothes to wear, extra curricular activities to participate in, music to listen to, programs to watch, movies to view, books to read. Through new experiences, the freshmen have gained the opinions listed below in the Freshman Class Poll. These new experiences and opinions are endless, but bound to change over the next four years. As Seniors the freshmen will again share their opinions by repeating this very same poll.

According to a senior class poll ...

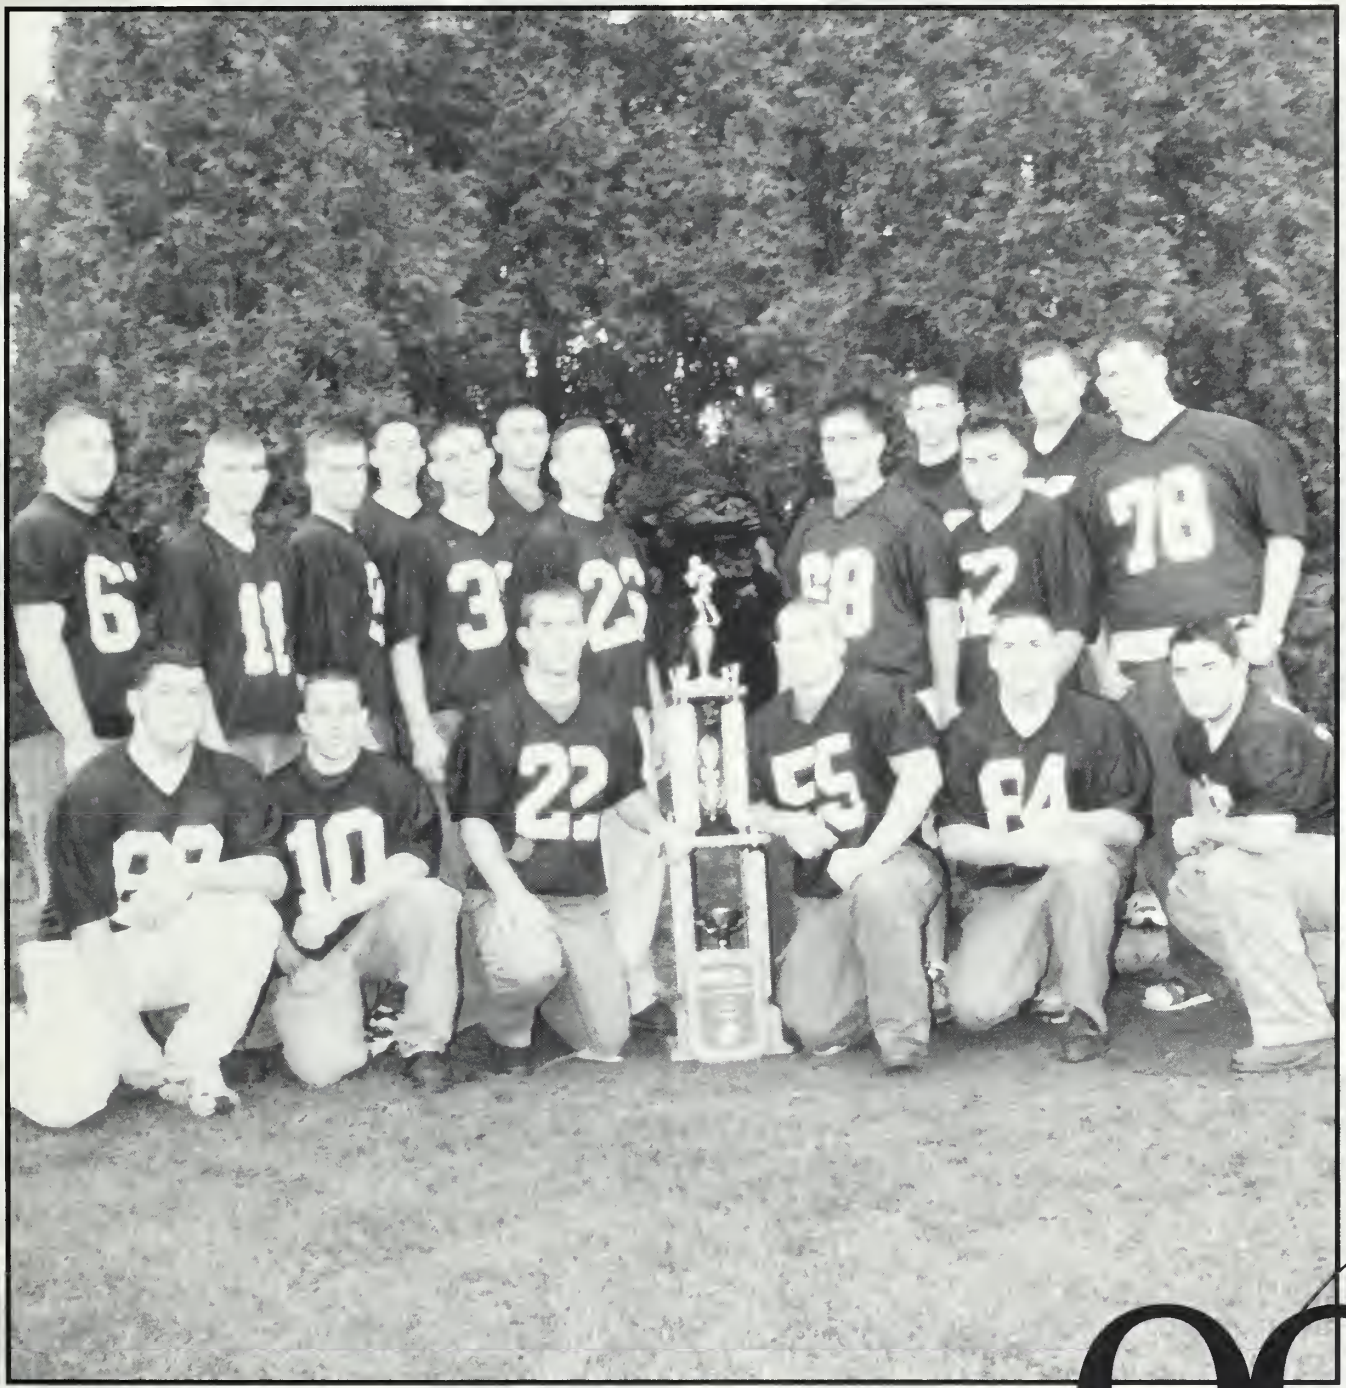
TREASURE 1996: In Ireland as freshmen, Stephanie Hurley and Kalin Salamone take time out of their very busy basketball schedule to pose at the Ring of Kerry. Coach James Daley says, reflecting upon the past, "I'm probably rolling and sliding down the hill there by some accident!"

TREASURE 1997: Andrea Olsen, as a sophomore, concentrates on where the volleyball will be next. As sophomores, the Class of 1999 saw its first Panther volleyball game.

TREASURE 1998: The Girls W-H Cross Country Team were 1997 ACL Champions, and for the first time ever, the girls made it to the state championships and placed 10th. The girls gather here demonstrating their excitement for a "sky's the limit" undefeated season that they now will be able to treasure.

TREASURE 1999: Coach James Barrington gives a pre-game talk to his soccer team members. The traditional 1-2-3- Panthers chant will always be treasured in memories by team members including: Justin Straz, Peter Goodick, Jon Hall, John DeCoste, Matt Kulikowski, Patrick Rose, Barrett Stafford, Daniel Savage, Matthew Duhaine, and Adam Crosscup.

Atlantic Coast League Championships, tournament appearances, all-star athletes. The list of W-H sports teams accomplishments is endless. Indeed, the Class of 1999 has established itself as a very successful class not only in the classroom but also in the athletic arena. From their first year as freshmen to their senior year, W-H athletes have accomplished many goals and won many titles while playing with sportsmanship and class. The Class of 1999 has taken full advantage of all the opportunities afforded it and in doing so has gained many memories of successful and enjoyable years that will be treasured for a lifetime.



TREASURE THIS YEAR: The seniors for the 1998 Football Team pose with the Thanksgiving Trophy which they won in 1996 and 1997 and the Atlantic Coast League Championship plaque from 1997. Along with going undefeated in the 1997 season, the Football Team also won the sportsmanship award. It was truly a season to treasure for a lifetime.

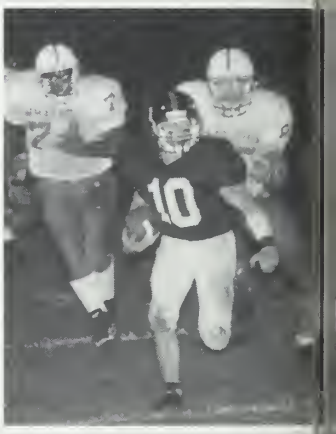
football/ football cheerleading

The 1998 Whitman-Hanson Football Team ended the year with another successful season. This year's senior based team tried to improve on its magnificent undefeated season last year but finished up with an 8-2 record.

The Panthers kept their heads up and had a great season. The Panthers defeated Abington at the annual Thanksgiving game. Marshfield's victory at their own Thanksgiving game against Duxbury won them a place in the Super Bowl, but the Panthers are looking forward to a Super Bowl appearance in the near future.

The Varsity Cheerleading Squad had another exciting season winning the Atlantic Coast League title for the second year in a row and going on to the regionals in Framingham, Mass. There they had a great performance showing off their excellent routine. The cheerleaders supported the football team all year, and the players came and supported the cheerleaders at all of their competitions.



Clockwise from Top Left: John Edgerly eyes the endzone after an interception. The cheerleaders get ready for an Eric Nugent extra-point. Zachary Costa gets around the corner and away from two defenders against the New Bedford Whalers. Whitman-Hanson Soccer has been very successful in past years, and the 1998 season was no exception.

The Whitman-Hanson girls team, due to their great season, made the state tournament again. They were led by Captains Kalin Salamone, Emily Kemmitt, and Rachel Brooks and were strongly supported by the young but very talented team.

The Boys team also had a successful season although they did not make it to the state tournament. The season was highlighted by their first win against Duxbury in the school's history.

The success of both teams was due to the excellent coaching of Mr. David Floeck and Mr. James Barrington. Their time and patience was greatly appreciated by all the players. The senior boys and girls both ended their W-H soccer careers on a great note.

running for glory ...

boys/girls cross country

Cross Country is a very challenging sport. It takes a lot of hard work and determination. Runners begin their season the day before the start of school, and they begin training for the season ahead of them.

With the outstanding help of Jason Papile, the Boys Cross Country Team had another spectacular season that led it to another ACL championship. The boys also did a great job in the state meet, finishing in seventh place in a field of over 200 contenders.

Captain Brian Lankiewicz says of the team, "A lot of guys exceeded expectations this past season to help us do well in the big meets."

The Girls Cross Country team also did well under the leadership of their new coach, Jack Murphy.

The girls finished seventh in the state meet, and had basically a good season with only two losses. Despite having her appendix out, Jenni Brooks came back and made a successful contribution to the team. Maura Murray had another outstanding season. Three freshmen, Bridget Black, Amanda Weiss, and Erin Obillo, look to be promising members of the team in the future.

With the return of the outstanding cross country contender, Dennis-Yarmouth, in the ACLeague, the 1998 cross country season proved to be a challenge. Another new edition to the league, due to another restructuring of the members of the ACL, was Nauset which the Panthers beat twice.

The Special Olympians participate in 10 events per year. The bowling regionals are usually held in March and the finals in April.

The Whitman-Hanson 1998 Volleyball Team will treasure this season forever. Led by Tri-Captains, Robin Milligan, Jeanne Lotti, and Christy Nevirauskas, the team proved to the school that the W-H volleyball program is progressing to new heights. In the first season (1996) the team had 0 wins and 10 losses. In the second season (1997)there was 1 win, and in their third season (1998) they more than doubled their winning history to 3 BIG wins.

Although W-H is losing two very talented volleyball players next year, the team still is left with enough talent to again double their winnings next year.

An extra-special thanks goes out to Coach James Daley from the team. "Though we all started out inexperienced, we learned enough from Coach Daley to lead us to three wins. His time and dedication to coaching us is greatly appreciated," states one player.

Whitman-Hanson's Special Olympic Athletes put forth an amazing effort as usual at the 1998 games. The hard work and dedication of these athletes was rewarded with the sweet taste of victory as well as several medals.

Each year the Olympians participate in many events including: soccer, basketball, floor hockey, track and field, bowling, swimming, and golf.

The perservering attitudes of these spirited athletes push them to their limits, not letting them back down until their goals are acheived. The shining example that the Olympians set should be followed by all aspiring athletes.

basketball/ basketball cheerleading

The 1999 W-H Boys Basketball Team came off a very tough 1998 season. Many of the players from the 1998 team returned, compiling a 1999 team of five seniors, four juniors, and one sophomore. A stunning season opener in which the W-H Panthers beat a very heavily favored Randolph team gave many W-H fans hope for a promising season.

The W-H Girls Basketball Cheerleading Squad has continued its success for another year. Following its ACL Championship in the fall, the girls are a strong favorite for repeating their ACL Winter Championship. The ten underclassmen will continue this success for years to come.

WRESTLING COACH, MR. ROBERT GAY, SAYS OF HIS 1999 TEAM:

"As the 1998-99 wrestling season neared, I was concerned that the wrestling team could be facing a potential 11 win - 12 loss record and a 3rd place finish in the new Pilgrim Conference 1 league. This was based on the fact that the team was facing the most difficult schedule it had in years and that league opponents Hingham and Marshfield were returning more veterans to their lineups than were the young Panthers. However, with dedication, determination and a strong work ethic, the Panther wrestlers overachieved and finished their season with a 21 win - 2 loss record. Whitman-Hanson wrestlers also captured the inaugural championship of the Pilgrim Conference I league. Congratulations to the team and best wishes especially to the wrestlers from the Class of 1999."

shooting for success

Wrestling/Girls Basketball

Wrestling and Girls Basketball are both popular sports here at Whitman-Hanson. Both teams have had successful pasts, and this year was no exception.

According to Wrestling Captains, Andrew Cook and Matthew Quimby, "The 1998-99 Panther Wrestling team has exceeded preseason expectations. With the toughest schedule in a number of years, a 15-0 start seemed out of reach, yet was attained. Throughout the season, the team had many goals including the wrestling program's 300th win and regaining a missed championship from last year. The team succeeded with both, with our 300th win over Xaverian and two tough league wins over Hingham and Marshfield, bringing the first ever Pilgrim Conference Championship to Whitman-Hanson. The wrestling team has successfully captured 7 out of the last 8 league championships. Now, with a large Freshman turn out, we can only hope that the success of the Panther Wrestling team will continue."

The Girls Basketball team also found success this season. They beat their most challenging rivals, the Duxbury Dragons and the Plymouth-North Eagles. They were led by Captains Kalin Salamone and Stephanie Hurley. Coming out of a 5 year stretch of finishing near the top of the league and qualifying for the State Tournament, the team set its goal for 1999 to win the League Championship.

running for championships

Boys/Girls Winter Track

The Boys Winter Track Team captured its 5th championship in the last six years. The Panthers continued their winning ways and finished the season with a win over previously undefeated Randolph and closed on an undefeated season.

The team was led by Captains Brian Lankiewicz, Zachary Costa, Derek Rust, and Derek Walsh. Jason Papile, David O'Grady, Patrick Lundrigan, and Joseph Palaza also contributed largely to the Panthers' success. Coach Kevin Black praised the team's hard work and effort. He emphasized the significance of finishing the season without a loss!

The Girls Winter Track Team finished its season with a reputable 5-2 record. The team's most significant win was over the consistently strong New Bedford team. The team lost two games to the strong teams of D-Y and Hingham. Top runners are Laura Billings, Maura Murray, and Sarah Kut.

In general, the team is on the upswing. The 1998 season was a good year, but the league has changed for 1999, bringing back Dennis-Yarmouth and therefore renewing an old rivalry.

Once the league season is over, the girls will move on in an individual basis if they qualify for the league meet, the Class B meet, and the State meet.

fighting for goals ...
hockey/hockey cheerleading

This season's 1998-1999 W-H Hockey Team proved they wouldn't stop fighting with (as of 1/26/99) a record of 1-12-2. With their first league win in three years against Dennis-Yarmouth, the team ended up with 3 points in the league and 4 overall. Next season looks to be a success as only two seniors, Matthew Guiney and Ryan Brogna will be graduating, and 15 varsity lettermen will be returning, including promising upcoming members of the freshman class.

Dedication has been obvious this year with 4:30 a.m. practices and team enthusiasm never lacking. Only 4 years ago did the W-H Team go to the state finals, and the road to success is near with a soon to be high powered, older, more experienced team.

Cooperative and dedicated are two adjectives which describe the W-H Hockey Cheerleaders.

The team, consisting of 8 members and 2 captains, cheers for home games only, which are held at the Rockland Skating Rink. Elizabeth Ferland & Erin Vail have been team members for three years; Amy Chandler has been a four year cheerleader for the team. Mrs. Jan Hurstak has been Coach to the Team for three years.

The best thing about being a Hockey Cheerleader, says Amy Chandler, Co-Captain, is that "we really do feel appreciated by the team members who, if we don't appear at a game in full force, ask us later where we all were." Amy says the team looks forward to new uniforms next year which will be supplied by the school.

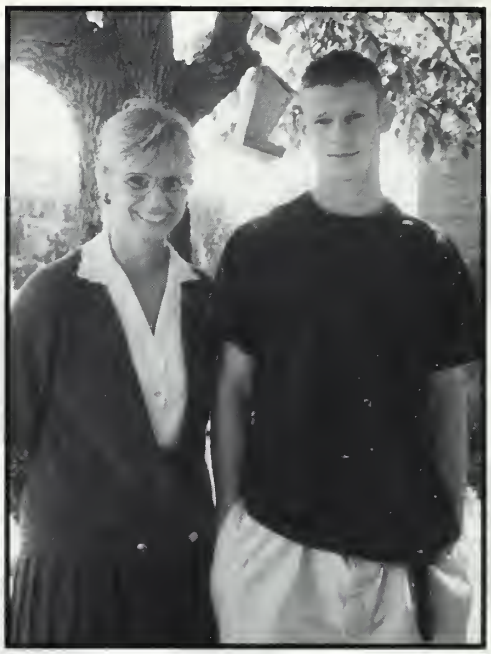
TREASURE 1996: Through the middle school years, McDonald's was always the cool hangout. For the past four years McDonald's has thanked us by being a corporate sponsor.



TREASURE 1997: Mrs. Pam Nawrocki has been a three time parent sponsor of W-H graduates. In 1995 Mrs. Nawrocki sponsored Jeff; in 1997 she sponsored Kim, and now in 1999 she sponsors Tim. On June 5th Mrs. Nawrocki will celebrate her youngest son's graduation.

TREASURE 1998: The Toll House Restaurant was once a W-H Yearbook Sponsor. The restaurant was honored when the chocolate chip cookie, a Toll House creation, was named the official cookie of the state of Massachusetts.

TREASURE 1999: The Yearbook Editors want to thank the Bombay Company at the Silver City Galleria for their willingness to allow them to come to the store in order to do some photography. A treasure chest was needed for a divider page photo and without hesitation, when asked, the Manager of the store Cheryl said, "What the heck! Sure they can come and use our treasure chest and take their photos!"

Thank you parents and businesses! The Sponsor Section of the Whitman-Hanson Yearbook is a sentimental journey for the parents who become parent sponsors. Each June a mailing is sent to the parents requesting their help in sponsoring the yearbook with their parent messages and favorite photos of their graduating children. The response is always overwhelming. Messages and photos flood the yearbook office during the late summer and first weeks of school. The parents spend time and emotion selecting the right photo(s) and writing the perfect message.

The yearbook is especially appreciative of the parents' enthusiastic support. Without their interest, the yearbook would not have this very special section. The sponsor section of the W-H Yearbook also includes the traditional business advertising. How supportive the businesses are to continue to place their ads in the yearbook. Indeed, the local businesses are bombarde with requests all year long to make contributions to every conceivable school event. Yet there are business advertisers that continue to support the yearbook by placing their ad in the yearbook, writing a special message if they so desire, and lendin the helping hand that again reminds the students that they are held in regard by the local businesses.

TREASURE THIS YEAR: Senior Alison Vance answers the phone at Marcello's, Whitman's well-known pizza and sub shop. Alison has been working for about a year at Marcello's. What does she like the most about her job? She says that she just loves making 29" meatball subs, cleaning the bathrooms, and spending time with her two favorite juniors, Andrea Ahearn and Toni Donati.

treasure the years

Above: Elementry school cuties Eric Brown and Eric Nugent take the time from cutting, pasting, coloring, and having fun to rake large piles of autumn leaves. As one would expect, they even jump into them. Ah! So innocent!

Above: Eric Nugent and Eric Brown relive the past and once again find themselves in a pile of leaves. Their friendship which has lasted many years contains memories that they will treasure forever.

Above: Cindy Firestein, Andrea Matheson, Ellizabeth Ferland, and Paula Donnelly gather around their snow creation. Their jubilant and joyful expressions serve to show that even though the snowman will melt away, their friendships will last forever.

Above: Two lone shadows walk away from their treasure in the sand - a diploma. As seniors walk away from high school years, they are asked to always remember the good times shared, to always follow their dreams, and to always treasure the years.

Each season brings different memories of not only school days at Whitman-Hanson but also memories of the personal lives of the seniors. With each passing season, each student learns a little more. Each student grows a little, matures a little, and gets a little wiser. Seniors all speak of themselves as adults; they are working hard at growing older and more mature. Our parents keep us as their little "babies" but at school we are allowed to grow at our own pace. Although the seniors always look forward to graduating and stepping out into the world, the seniors also realize that high school has been a safe haven where good memories are made, kept, and thusly, "treasured".
